What Makes a Woman?

One hundred and twenty pounds, more or less, of bone and muscle don't make a woman. Its a good foundation. Put into it health and strength and she may rule a king-Bitters give her. Thousands bless them for overcoming fainting and dizzy spells and for dispelling weakness, nervousness, backache and tired, listless, worn out feeling.

Mail Carriers Will Fly.

This is an age of great discoveries.
Progress rides on the air. Soon we may see Uncle Sam's mail carriers flying in all directions, transporting mail. People take a wonderful interest in a discovery that benefits them. That's why Dr. King's New Discovery for Coughs, Colds and other throat and lung diseases is the most popular medicine in America.
"It cured me of a dreadful cough," writes Mrs. J. F. Davis, Sickkey Corner, Me., "after doctor's treatment and all other remedies had failed." For coughs, colds or any bronchial affection it's unequalled.

IS PROTECTING ITS INDIANS

Government of Brazil Treats Them With Solicitude and the Results Are Good.

The Brazilian government appears to have found a way of dealing with its Indians which is altogether different from that so extensively employed in North America where the "civilizers" proceeded on the assumption that "all good Indians are dead Indians."

"The government of Brazil," says L'Toulle du Sud of Rio de Janeiro, "is always occupied with more or less solicitude in the amelioration of the lot of the natives, who are yet numerous in a great part of the country.
In a short space of time the most encouraging results have been obtained.
A great number of tribes, protected by the administration, are becoming civilized little by little. The result of this is an increased production of cultivated foods offering superior advantages to an industry, consisting only of hunting and fishing, which has been the sole resource of many indigenous tribes. In the state of Parana the Indians belonging for the most part to the nation of the Calin-cangus are cultivating their lands in maize, rice and sweet potatoes. The natives of the valley of the river Tibagy have recently constructed five sugar mills, very crude, it is true, but nevertheless a great step in their progress."

Saw No Future for Pittsburg.

"Pittsburgh" of the ninth edition of the "Encyclopaedia Britannica" had quietly become "Pittsburg" in the tenth. The former, to which America has now officially reverted, is the original spelling. When General Forbes captured Fort Duquesne in 1758, he renamed it Pittsburg in honor of the great English inspirer of victory. In 1784 Arthur Lee described the place in language which seems strange to those who know "the smoky city" of today: "Pittsburg is inhabited almost entirely by Scots and Irish, who live in paltry log houses. There are in the town four attorneys, two doctors and not a priest of any persuasion, nor church or chapel, so that they are likely to be damned without the benefit of clergy. The place, I believe, will never be very considerable."

German Trade Advancement.

At one time the county of Lancashire, in England, produced practically all the sulphuric acid in the world.
The commercial development in Germany and other foreign countries of a special process of manufacture, originally invented by an Englishman, has lost this trade to England. Similarly, the working out by Germans of a method of making artificial indigo has already revolutionized the indigo business and bids fair also to revolutionize the cotton dyeing industry. Four-fifths of all the dyes used in the world are made in Germany.

AVIATOR VS. EAGLE

Unique Idea Put Forward by French Army Officers.

Believe Birds Can Be Trained to Attack Occupants of Airships—Will Be Difficult to Ward OFF Such Assaults.

The problem of how to combat airships is one which nations are very much concerned about at the moment, and it is no exaggeration to say that a fortune awaits the man who can invent a really effective weapon by which armies will be able to cope with this new force in warfare. In the meantime some French army officers, who certainly cannot be accused of lack of originality, have been conducting experiments with a view to proving that eagles can be trained to destroy air fleets.

The idea was first suggested to them by the tragic death of the late Gallbraith Rogers, a very brilliant aviator, who is said to have met his death because a seagull accidentally flew against him and disturbed his control of his machine; and it has been subsequently proved that a very slight injury to the driver of an aeroplane will destroy his equilibrium and send him toppling to the earth.

See Possibilities in Eagle.
If, argued the French officers, a modest-sized bird like a seagull could wreck an aviator, what would an eagle which is powerful enough to carry off a sheep or child, do? The consequence was that the French aviation officers stationed at Nice, which is within a few miles of the Alpine home of the Swiss eagle—recognized as one of the most powerful birds—set to work to train six eagles to attack aeroplanes.

Machines resembling aeroplanes in shape, but supported by balloons, to which were attached pieces of meat, were sent up and the eagles let loose.
With fierce cries and flapping of their wings they attacked the aeroplane and tore the meat from them. In their eagerness they fight one another, and the aeroplane is sometimes turned upside down in their struggles. It is inconceivable that any men in an aeroplane, even if there were three or four of them, could retain control of their machine in face of such an attack.
One after another the eagles attack all the aeroplane balloons until they are wrecked, and their trainers feel certain that they will now attack aeroplanes with men in them with the same ferocity.

Formidable Foe in Air.
In its natural realm, the upper air, an eagle will be capable of upsetting any flying machine. It can fight with beak, claws and wings at once, and can swoop down on the aviator from above or attack him from any direction.

How will the aviators meet the attacks of the eagles? They will, of course, carry firearms of some kind—revolvers or short repeating rifles. To shoot a bird in the air is, however, notoriously difficult, but to shoot half a dozen of them while they are clawing at you and you are seated in a trembling aeroplane is well-nigh an impossibility.

India's Demand for Gold.

The important effect of India prosperity on the demand for the precious metals is well known. The remarkable feature of the present year is that the Indian demand, which has been very large, has run rather to gold than to silver. For the ten months to October 31 India has taken from London a total of £10,947,463 in gold, an unprecedented amount, while the total value of its silver purchases has been £8,950,590, or about £2,000,000 less than the gold. The silver takings have not fallen off, but are greater for several years past. The approximate quantities represented by these values are 2,816,100 ounces gold and 77,370,500 ounces of silver, being, respectively, about 15 per cent. and 35 per cent. of the world's production.
The important question is what effect the growing demand for gold may have on future takings of silver, and consequently on the future price. An important point is that the gold and silver taken by India is nearly all absorbed, little being exported.—Engl-neering and Mining Journal.

Petitions in Golf Holes.

The amir of Afghanistan has taken up golf keenly and has had good links laid out in the neighborhood of Kabul. The natives were much puzzled by the well-kept greens, but, recognizing the game as a royal one, they put the holes to a practical purpose.
They got into the habit of placing petitions into the holes at night, in the hope that they would reach the amir when he was putting next day. But his majesty's temper apparently was not improved by the royal game. He resented this attempt to take advantage of his recreations and ordered that all such petitions be burned un-read.—London Mail.

Human Voice Getting Deeper.

The human voice becomes a shade deeper with each successive generation. Among our more remote ancestors a genuine bass voice was unknown, and most of them sang in what would now be called falsetto tones.
Nowadays, among masculine singers barytone voices are the most common, and these are of a lower tone than they were 50 years ago. All singing masters agree that sopranos are becoming more and more difficult to find, and the tenor voice has already been called a disease.
